“ Chris was a great friend to all of us Durham guys who had the pleasure of meeting him at the Mangene's house in 1990. Chris was there to watch over us and quickly moved from older brother to great friend. Chris was funny - such a dry sense of humor. He was kind - was always there to help anyone in need. He was fun - up for any adventure and a good time. From watching the Red Sox, to hiking, to being intellectually curious about life. You taught us many lessons Chris Glidden. I love you old friend. I will miss you, Thank you for the many gifts you gave us all. It was a pleasure and an honor to call you my friend.

“ Ciao Chris, grazie di tutto!
We will always keep in our hearts the smile of your beautiful soul. We will keep the memory of your gentle, natural generosity, your warm friendliness, your brilliant intellectual curiosity. We will keep our intercontinental conversations about Italy and the States, about coffee, music, universities and about our kids. We knew there was a special guardian angel on the other side of the ocean.
Dear Mary, we are so deeply saddened for your loss. We embrace all of you fondly.

“ Mike and I send our condolences. You are in our hearts and prayers. May the many beautiful memories you have of Chris help get you through these difficult times. The heaviness in your hearts are much too real, but it will lift in time and then when you think of him, it will be with fondness and not sadness. Healing may take time, but it will come. May God walk with you through the sadness, and may He bring you comfort.

“ My condolences too all the family and friends of Christopher. As I friend to his mom, Mary, I feel as though I knew Chris over these past months with the horrible disease that took him to Heaven much too soon. The suffering is over now for you Chris, please let the strength you portrayed inbed itself in your family now and help them heal, with wonderful memories of your life.

“ Dear Mary, Jane and Victoria,
I worked with Chris for many years in the Davis building and also collaborated with him on admissions work. I always appreciated his positivity and great sense of humor. He was so helpful and maintained a wealth of patience. Photos of you all and extended family were posted all over his office- he was an extremely proud father. I'll never forget he often commented on the music choices coming from the Dance Studio and especially loved the musical theater songs. Wishing you peace at this sad time. — Allison Duke

“ There is so much to know about my big brother, Chris. He was whip smart, with a lightening wit. He could teach himself anything - and did. He loved to cook - and eat - from tagine to baguette to Christmas stollen. He painted watercolors with our Mom, read Faulkner alongside his daughter's English class, tied flies, played guitar, made baby food. He loved the beach and fishing and his kids and his dogs. He loved to travel and he loved his home. Like all good New Englanders, he loved his Pats and the Sox. For 51 years he has been my unofficial family historian and chronologist - when did this happen ... did this happen You are timeless now Chris. I'll meet you at the big rock, and we'll play.

“ Hi Kelly, it's Shell, I wanted to send you all my love and let you know that you that you are in my heart and thoughts - you always have been - and especially at this time. I heard from the DeMarco's about Chris's illness and passing, and I have such wonderful memories of his spirit and creativity. My thoughts are with all of the family. I wanted to contact you directly but didn't have your email. Life is truly too short to do anything but love and forgive the past, and please send my loving thoughts to Tim and Tony as well. I feel a great comparison for your Mom and Tom, and Chris's wife Mary - Victoria, Jane and Melissa as well. Much love always,

“ Dear Victoria and Jane,

There is nothing I can say that will ease the heaviness we are feeling, having lost a dear friend and, for you two, a dear dad. I feel compelled to tell you what you already know and that is how much he loved you both. When he and I would have our weekly meeting to talk admission talk, our conversation would usually turn to our kids; this is when he would speak so fondly of the both of you. I wanted you to hear this from me.

Sincerely,

Michael Gary

“ Dear Mary,
I am so sorry for your loss and all that Chris went through to fight this horrible disease. I worked with Chris in the admissions office at Exeter. We worked hard together but we also laughed together. He was always very approachable, kind, fair and just a pleasant person to have in the office. It was clear how much he loved you and his family and life in general. He was so very proud of Victoria attending Exeter and Jane now a student. He will be missed by so many. Gone too soon!
My warmest regards,

“ Oh Christopher! You were as tough as any of the Marines I know and work with daily. You battled, my son, and were courageous to the end. I will love you always as one of my own, and I will miss you until we see each other again. It is good to know that you are no longer in any pain, and though all of us remaining here will miss you terribly and have a hole in our lives unfilled until we too join you, we know that the world is a better place for having had you in it. I was always inspired by how you so enjoyed life and squeezed every good thing out of it that you could - I so admire that! You have no idea how many lives you touched in a positive way during your journey. I can tell you that you were a huge part of my life. Whenever I think of you, I will always think of that strong man lovingly caring for his daughters and his step-kids, standing on the beach at Ocean City NJ, and showing the all the delighted children the wonders of God's oceans. I love you and miss you.
