“ I met Jean in 1971 when her father married my mother. When I moved to Portsmouth, NH in the mid-1970's she was working as the bookkeeper for Piscataqua Savings Bank. She contacted me about a job opening as a teller at her bank. I applied and she recommended me for the position and I was hired. At the bank she needed someone to back her up as the bookkeeper and asked me if I was interested in learning the position which I was. We spent quite a bit of time during those years socializing and developed a permanent friendship. Not only had she provided me with a professional opportunity, but also with a close personal relationship. I always enjoyed her company - her wit and sense of humor and her insights.

I ended up moving to Massachusetts and then to California with my 2 sons and my gypsy husband at that time. I returned to the NH/Maine area in 1979 and reconnected with Jean. When I was going through a difficult divorce and needed a place to live for awhile, she was there to offer me her home. I will never forget what a difference this made, and gave me the time and ability to rebuild my life. I can never thank her enough for that gift and the impact she had on my life. I loved her dearly and will miss her.
