“ She chased my sister around upstairs with a baseball bat, swung and missed, putting a giant hole in the door. She was mean, selfish and the epitome of a wicked step mother.

“ Christine, Linda, Douglas and the entire family, my heartfelt condolences at the passing of Bert. We were neighbors for 50 years and I have many memories of her active life and her spirited presence in the neighborhood. She lived a long and active life like many never get to experience and seemed to be healthy and active right to the end - God bless her for that - she fought the good fight.

I'll never forget the day that I buried my mom back in November of 2008. While standing at the foot of my mom's casket as the service ended I felt a slight tug on the back of my right sleeve and I turned to find Bert standing there offering a hug and her condolences. It was about 10 degrees that day and everyone was absolutely freezing including Bert but she made the effort to be there for my mom and I and it truly meant a great deal to me - I never forgot her for that.

May she rest in peace, I'm sure that Heaven is a much more interesting place with her around. With sincere condolences to you all.

“ I wish I could offer some small measure of comfort to you all, Christine, Doug, and Linda at the loss of your Mom. She was very proud of all of you and her dear grand children. I have so many fond memories of sharing adventures with your Mom. Our first mountain climb up Mt Major for both of us was Mt Major. Finding ourselves off the trail, I suggested we stop, think which direction we think the trail is, be quiet, and we both thought the same way. Two old ladies could easily have been lost. We went many places on the seacoast in our quest to see birds together, investigated new homes being built, another hike up Pine Mt. on our own in the fall. She enjoyed concerts, dining out, the beach, bridge, and I regret not seeing her often after moving to Durham two years ago. I was in North Hampton last week and thought of dropping by....I regret not being in touch these last months. With sincere condolences and love to you all.
