“ I only met Victor this year but it didn't take long to realize what a special man he was. He was so sweet, humorous and just warm and friendly all around. Every one of his neighbors I met sang his praises. Rest in peace dear Victor. I'm blessed to have met you and only wish I had gotten to know you even more.

“ He was the youngest of my three brothers, but I believe he had the biggest heart. One of his most admirable qualities was his zest for life. You could hear it in his booming laugh, and the pleasure he enjoyed preparing a meal for the folks he loved.
He loved cooking. Never will forget that he landed a job as a cook in a very popular restaurant in downtown Denver. Mind you Vic had never taken any cooking class or had been formally trained. His enthusiasm, personality, and humor persuaded the owners to hire him over veteran cooks.
I remember him telling me to come eat the best pizzas ever at his restaurant. Every night for a week, we ate his delicious pizza. Laughter, deep caring, and warm affection always filled the room.

Rest easy, little brother. You will always be in my heart. I love you.
Goodbye for now.
