“ Chris was an amazing person. There are very few people left in this world who will lend an ear, a hand or even simple advice without expecting something in return. Chris was one of those few. In the past year I have been going through some heart breaking and trying family problems. There were days I felt like I wasn't sure how to take that one more step or if even i could and then Chris would take what seem to me the largest mountain I would ever have to cross over and turn it into a mole hill. He would make me laugh when I felt like I may never again. I also admired his love and devotion to his family. How he would talk about the family camping Trip and how he chased a bear trying to steal his beer cooler and won. It was very evident how much he loved his family. I wish there more people like him. As Roger said earlier if there is anything you need don't hesitate to ask. We'll try and help any way we can.....

“ Chris started at Lowes as a seasonal part timer in outside garden. I was his Dept. Manager and knew he would be a great asset to Lowes as well as a great friend to me. He was there for me when I just need to vent about things and when I needed a shoulder to cry on. He always had my back when I needed help. I will miss your smile and your big warm heart.

“ I worked side by side chris everyday he worked at lowes for the last 3 years. I will never forget about a year and half ago when the department manager job came open I was like perfect I have the best person for the job chris!!!! I went to talk to him of course he was humble and said he didn't want it nor was he ready. It took me 2 days to convince him and I made him apply!! I Remeber the day he got the job and how happy he was smiling ear to ear. I was so happy to have such a great man to work for me. He was amazing guy and friend. He came into work everyday with a smile and was happy. He spoke so highly of his wife and kids and how he loved being there for them. All of is struggle each day you would never know his as he smiled so much about life. He was there to put smiles on others faces. He will truly be missed. To his wife if you ever need anything your lowes of Epping family will be here don't ever hesitate to ask!!! Sincerely roger

“ Chris my loving, loving son. I am so thankful for the time we had here on earth. I will miss you forever. I loved you from the time I knew you was going to be born. You made my life full of joy and happiness. As we grew so did our love and respect for each other. When your children came along you showed the world what a father should be. Always caring and understanding. First and most important to you was making sure they were happy and safe. We all see you in so many things in our homes, things you made or gave. God called you home (way to soon), and a large piece of my heart went with you. It feels broken into tiny pieces. When you see your little brother John, give him a kiss for me. Even on the other side you can still help me. We all will work together to help Deanne raise your children here. I will let them know how much they are loved every day. The same way you always was told how much you were loved, small or grown I told you almost daily. Rest with the angels my loving sweet son, Will love you to the day we meet again love, your broken hearted Mon

“ Dee and family, though I never had the pleasure of meeting Chris I liked him, I "knew" him through my husband, Greg (Commercial Services at Lowes 2551). Chris didn't only touch the life of everyone he met in a positive way, but he touched the lives of others he didn't know - including myself. I remember when he found out I was looking for a new job and he knew of a company where a family member works and he arranged the contact for me so I was able to interview there. I only talked to Chris the one time to thank him, and we had quite the wonderful chat! Greg spoke quite often of Chris, and I looked forward to hearing about how Chris assisted someone in a positive way, be it a co-worker or customer. My heart breaks for all of you, both of his families, and may he rest in peace. Keep the memories close, they will warm and cheer you in the future. Heaven has gained another angel.

I came to trust his judgment and wisdom as well and his advice was always so well thought out and helpful. he was a great man and I know our lives will never be the same without him. I could never find a better and more caring friend. He always had a smile that could light up a room. his laugh would make you smile some days make you feel better if you were stressed or down. he was always willing to listen if you needed to talk. he was one guy that you could count on if you need him.
