“ I will miss him terribly. He and Mae were staples at the food table of the greeters. It's hard for me to imagine a greet without either. I salute my brother veteran and PNSY retiree. Fair winds and following seas Chris.

“ Chris and Mae is how we think of you. The more you got to know them you thought Mae was the Extrovert but Chris given the right circumstances was chatty. He would be walking on his way to or from an area but he would stop, smile and you would end up chatting. Chris you never walked by without saying something and we're going to miss you.
