“ A moment of reflection by Everett W. Sielicki, Jr.
the brother Daniel E. Sielicki.

Daniel and I as couple of snot nosed youngster's, he had been raised by our birth mother Mary Souther, were supervision was laxed. and by the age of ten he was learning lesson's of the street's as he roamed them through late hour's into the night, and skipping school, plus smoking cigarettes at tender age ten year's old.

I on the other hand was raised, and disciplined literally with an iron fist by Mary Jordan to be well mannered, and respectful enough not to get out of line.

So Danny and I we're opposites of each other, because of this we we're at odds with one another, and I had often felt the wrath of his knuckles, with me sure enough to be on the loosing end of the tousle.

As we had grown a little older our father had noticed Danny and I squabbling and knew where that was was headed . Therefore he produced a set of boxing-gloves. I had strapped on a set a said, "let's go" needless to say he wasn't going for it. I did the chicken cluck, and danced the chicken scratch to egg him on. He shied away my invitation.

From that day forward we had never raised a hand against one another again.

looking back on the situation, it had been the earmark of when Daniel had taken on the light, and I the darkness.

Daniel had achieved everything in life I could only wish for. To have a loving family to be with him when it mattered the most to comfort him at the end of his journey of this world.

It is through Daniel's light that I can see the errors of my life and I'm working on it one day at a time to restore the the dimmed light I had lived by so that I may also bask in the light , and in the presence of the Lord, and Daniel when my Journey comes to an end.

Thank you so much my dearest brother. Much love, and be at peace
