“ Back in the early 80s, Diane offered to drive her nephew Mark and a few of his friends to Boston to see RUSH because we were too young to have our drivers licenses. Those guys LOVED RUSH and although I didn't really know their music and I had never been to a concert in my whole life ~ I wanted to go so badly! Now I am in my 50s and over the years, have participated in so many "ice breakers" ~ with that inevitable question, "What was your first concert?", so this memory has never wandered too far away. At the time I was too young to realize how lucky we were that Diane was willing to take us. She was always Mark's really nice Aunt Diane. For years when I have thought back on my first concert and her making it happen for our grateful crowd, I know how brave she was (with a touch of that good kind of crazy too) to drive a bunch of young teenagers to Boston. I wish I could remember if she actually joined us for the show ~ she was fun like that. I do remember her getting me back home safe and sound after one of the best adventures of my life and on a school night no less.
