“ Dear Debbie, please accept my heartfelt condolences, I was so shocked to hear about George. From childhood friends to young adults. Times I will always remember. All the fishing and hunting and playing hockey and softball together and many other good times, as well as some of the mischievous times in good fun. Our paths separated somewhere along the way, not really sure why. I would often see him picking up the newspaper at the Irving Station in town and we would always have a conversation about something for a few minutes generally ending in a laugh. One of those laughs came when we recalled the Saturday nights that I occasionally joined you folks for beans/kielbasa at your parents house. Your father would give us both the business, look at us both and just shake his head. I would ask how you and the children were doing and he would say everyone is doing good, but would beam with pride when he spoke about the children and their accomplishments and what they were doing at that time. I know Debbie that through your faith you will get through these times, you were always a strong woman and I'm sure that has not waivered. God Bless and take care to you and your family.
