“ Jake was an amazing co worker and an even better friend. We worked together off and on last year but this year we were a crew. No matter what job we did big or small we got it done and had a blast doing it. We could sit there for hours doing anything and still made it fun with our inside jokes and just how we meshed as a crew. We could be laughing and joking around all day. He made it fun and he really cared about what we were doing and how it looked. I remember one day we were on lunch and he was talking about how we should of had a machine to do the job we were doing. He was right, but right as I took a sip of my Gatorade he said “but nope we are skid and steer we can do it without a skid steer! I’m skid he’s steer we are here to do your landscape!” I spit my Gatorade everywhere and we both started laughing for probably a good 3-4 minutes failing to make a sentence. I will forever miss you skid. Fly high buddy I will think about you with everything I do and try to make you proud.

“ I have a lot of memories of my brother Jake. The most one that keeps coming to me, is the time we were playing. Out of no where he started hitting me with something, chased me around, until I found a plastic baseball bat. Chased him around with it and kept on hitting him. I wasn't going to stop until he ran to my mom and I got in big trouble for it. Going to miss you little bro 🥺🥺🥺🥺🥺

Chrystal - June 30, 2020 at 12:03 PM

“ I have a lot of memories of Jake. Wanda and I have been friends forever. I think I'll share my last visit I had from Jake. I lost my mom in March as soon as Jake heard the news he sent me a text telling me how sorry he was and that he loved me. A couple weeks later I got a text from him saying.” Hey Auntie it's Jake I'm outside you don't have to come out with the virus and all. Just want to say hi from the truck”. Of course I went outside to talk to him. It had been a long time since I'd seen him. He looked great! He looked happy and healthy. And being Jake he wanted to know how I was how my daughters were. How my husband was. I'm so happy I got to see him. My only regret was not making him get out of the truck for a hug. On Father's Day I got a strange feeling that Jake was going to be stopping by. Of courses I didn't know he had already passed. But I'm thinking it was his sprit stopping by on his way to be with his Mimi. I love you Jake RIP.

“ Wanda, my heart breaks for you 😞 my earliest memory of Jake was him at about 6 months old..you went to work & needed a sitter so you dropped him off at my house about 6pm & was picking him up at midnight..well as soon as the door closed, he cried & cried & cried.. he wouldn't even eat ...tried watching TV, using stuffed animals to cuddle with, nope, he wouldn't have any part of it...& so he cried & cried some more..tried to give him something to eat, & guess what , nope, he cried, tried the bottle, nope, music, nope...& about 11:45 he stopped, yes he stopped crying & fell asleep in my arms...& what did I do, sat in my rocking chair & closed my eyes & held him...until guess what, my door bell rang at midnight & then can you imagine what happened, yup he woke up & you guessed it, he started crying...then I opened the door, he saw his mom standing there & you held your arms out & he leaned in for his mommas arms, & yup he fell asleep ❤️ I wouldn't change that memory for the world 😊 I saw Jake many times over the years but that is the memory that sticks out the most personally for me .. RIP Jake, you were in the arms of angels down here on earth & now you are in the arms of angels above ..watch down over all your loved ones & send them a sign when you can to let them know that you are thinking of them 🙏🙏

I met Jake through Kelly. We had some really good talks about his life dreams. His love for Kelly's and his kids glowed like a fire on a dark dreary night. He had a good heart and soul. I am so sorry for the loss the kids are feeling and will always feel. Jake rest easy, I know that your love will guide them and watch over them.
