

Jason P Balser

February 1, 1988 - July 25, 2023

Seabrook – Jason P. Balser, 35 of Seabrook, passed away on Tuesday, July 25, 2023.

He was born in Rochester on February 1, 1988 the son of Christina (Balser) Landry and her husband Robert of Seabrook. Raised in Salisbury, he graduated from Triton Regional High School.

Jason loved music and had an infectious laugh. He had a quick wit and the amazing ability to always find something positive every day.

In addition to his parents, surviving family members include his siblings, Jennie Landry of Salisbury, MA and Joshua Landry of Merrimack; grandmother, Mary Anne Balser of Amesbury, MA; uncle, John Balser of Seabrook and many great aunts, uncles and cousins.

All services will be private.

“ Jason, this year 2025-2026 I choose not to send holiday messages on this site. Mostly because I send you messages to your phone and Facebook and I'm at a point in my grieving journey that I am working on not obsessing about things I can't change. Since your birthday has passed which is the hardest one for me. It's a hard day because it's the day I was blessed to be chosen by you to be your mom. My first love you will always be. So Happy Heavenly , Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year, and most of all Happy Birthday. I know you always said you wanted to meet Jerry Garcia and I hope you finally got to. Bobby Weir passed recently I hope you get to meet him to. 5 of the original Grateful Dead are with you now. Keep that music alive for me until I get there. I love you Jason, always and forever.

“ Omg...dude was dating Billie Jo. Wish I could go to hi services. I was with him just a few months ago bringing him to cash a (can't remember exactly) like a $30k check. I am so sorry for his family.

Ken - November 13, 2023 at 11:43 AM

Thank you Ken. We haven't had a service for Jason yet. When we have a celebration of his life. I'll let you know if you'd like. Thank you for leaving a message for Jason.

“ I'm missing you so much Jason. I just can't believe you are gone...I reach for my phone everyday at 2:30 pm excited to talk to you. I still message you everyday. I hope you see them. Remember that app we used to use Temu? I somehow ended up downloading it again and in the cart was a bracelet that I was going to order for you, but ended up getting on Amazon. Remember it broke and you were so upset, we both were. Anyway I ordered the one in the Temu cart just because. And it arrived yesterday. Odd thing was the card was in there but the bracelet was missing..I hope you are wearing it now. I believe you took the bracelet to let me know you still wanted it. ❤️ I'm getting a new tattoo. I'll post a picture for you of the design I made. I love you forever and always Jay.

“ How can it be that its been almost 2 months that you've been gone? Everyone says that time heals the pain, but nothing seems like that is coming for me any time soon. I miss you so much and I still reach for my phone to talk to you everyday at 2:30. But then I remember that no matter how many messages I send, I will never see you respond to me in that way again. I'm so sorry I couldn't save you Jason. I love you so much. My heart hurts. ❤️ I can only try to find some peace in looking at what pictures I have left. I wish the person who held on to them for us would give them back to me. But forever they are etched in my brain. Until we meet again, they will have to do. I love you Jason. ❤️

“ My beloved grandson...the day I watched you come into this world I felt a love for you that I never knew existed. My first grandchild! A love that grew and grew over the years. Through all the years, the good times and bad times, the mistakes and the mishaps, the ups and downs that love shined through. As yours did for me. You always kept in touch with me. Holidays and birthdays, you never forgot me. Always making sure I was okay whenever I was sick or after one surgery or another. You always made me feel loved and important. You loved your Grammy! I will remember the good times we shared. The trips to D.C and Lake Winnepesaukee, trips to the beach, trips to Story Land with your cousins JT and Jessica and sleep overs. Lunch dates with you and sometimes with Chuck. So much more! Thank you for the little silver butterfly and the heart shaped rock to let me know you are thinking of me and you are here with me. These are the memories that I will keep in my heart until we meet again

“ Jason, I will never forget the first day i met you. This handsome young man sitting outside on a 2nd floor overhang at your Moms apartment giving me a look like who is this guy and why is he with my Mom Lol.

Well as so many years passed and time threw every challenge our way we held tight to what we always knew. That we were meant to be in each others lives. Through the laughs and the tears Love never waivered. I was blessed to have you in my life and will miss you dearly.

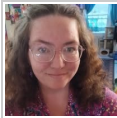

Today i will be sad and cry but my tears will eventually turn to smiles as i remember the memories and your beautiful soul. R.I.P
My Love Always

My favorite memory is teaching you to change the tie rod ends on your car. Learned quick. ❤️

Don Spinney - August 02, 2023 at 05:16 PM

I remember when the tie rod snapped in this big blue car he had and we shook all the way home from Salisbury to Amesbury, what a ride.

“ Jason, you're always going to be my 1st love. My heart is so broken that the rest of my days will be without our daily talks, even the difficult ones. You will always be my shining star. I want you to know I hear you talk to me, I feel your hugs and I hear the music you send to me. My wish for you is to have some peace now. That your pain is gone and you find the freedom you long to have. Thank you my son for choosing me to have the honor of calling you my son. I love you now, I loved you yesterday, and I will love you for the rest of my life. I miss you so much. I'm sorry for all the pain I couldn't heal for you. I will keep you with me forever.
I love you Jason more than you could ever know.
Love you always, mom.
