

Jason A. Mazola

January 29, 1981 - February 4, 2017

Seabrook – Jason A. Mazola, 36, of Lynn, MA, died peacefully on Saturday, February 4, 2017 after a long battle with addiction.

He was born in Lynn on January 29, 1981 a son of Joseph Mazola of Lynn and Laurie (Crosby) Dorval of Seabrook.

Raised in Lynn by his mother Laurie and father Michael Dorval he graduated from Lynn English High School, where he played on the school baseball and football team.

Jason was warm hearted, very intelligent and great with children. He also enjoyed music and watching sports, but most of all he loved his family.

In addition to his parents, family members include his brother Michael Dorval of Seabrook; sisters, Amanda Dorval of Seabrook and Brianna Mazola of Lynn, MA and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Visitation will be held from 5 to 7 PM on Friday, February 10, 2017 in the Remick & Gendron Funeral Home - Crematory, 811 Lafayette Road, Hampton. Burial will be private. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Chucky's Fight, 380 Lafayette Road, Unit 11-193, Seabrook, NH 03874.

Jason,
With a sad heart ,I have to say bye , until we meet up again ...
Is hard to know that you had to go
But your with the Lord & he the one who run the Show
You pain is over & ours has just started ,you are always in hearts just ....Departed ❤️❤️
This is not faewell it just a good buy ,until Our farther call me to his Heavan in that Big Blue sky. 🕯️🕯️🕯️🕯️🕯️ Stay Strong watch over your family because this a tough on for all our understanding ,I don't ask why I know the answer your were suffering to must so he had to answer, he took you for your peace of mind & to rest your young soul because addiction took over and oh boy what toll.....
I will remember all the go times and never for get you a Star in the Sky.
Love you Tede

“ Jason you were always so happy, and you had a way of making those around you happy as well. I remember when you found out I had four daughters, and you just had to meet Kelly, so she fixed herself up, and casually strolled by the deli so she could check you out. Well now your both in Heaven so if you happen to see her strolling by tell her that her mom is still playing match maker. I'll see you both again, and we will have a lot of laughs. Now your life has really begun Darlin and you don't have to struggle with addiction anymore, Love ya, Liz

Wendy, I didn't feel it was my place to be there. I knew him only mere months in comparisson to everyone else attending. I messaged you on fb. Please contact me on there and we can figure it out. I can mail it or meet you somewhere if need be. I'm so truly saddened by this. My love for him was sincere. My deepest condolences.

“ J.,

Thank you for sharing your life with me, being your genuine self, and showing me the unconditional love only you could have. I will never forget you or the times we shared, our open and honest conversations where both of us would inevitably be in tears and laughing at the same time, or the fact that we were so different, it just worked for us.

I keep thinking that you're going to walk through the door and ask me what I'm cooking because you're "staaahvin'!" or teasing me about not wearing shoes, or just hanging out with your ever-present headphones on. Thank you for always believing in me and letting me love you.

I'll never forget your smile. I'm happy how often you smiled here with us. Thinking of how you pretended to dislike my dogs but how you'd sneak them bacon from your breakfast and pet them if you thought I wasn't looking, you let your guard down and let us in. You're a beautiful soul. I know that you have found peace and comfort in heaven and you're watching over all of us.

I love you.

“ Jay,

*I'll remember you always, you'll forever be in my heart.
The girls and I talk about you often and although we only had you a few short months, we loved you like crazy.*

As much as you'll be missed by many, especially those nearest and dearest to you...your internal fight with loneliness and feeling lost and feeling pain has ceased. I hope you're resting easy and surrounded by feelings of love, peace, and serenity.

You were an amazing man, Jason Mazola, I always saw the good in you.

Love you always. Fly high xoxo
