“ I was one of Mrs. Lurvey's last students the year she retired from Hampstead Middle School. She was one of the best science teachers I ever had, she was so quirky and brought such a bright light. I really enjoyed all the science experiments we did, and distinctly remember her straightening her hair and brushing her teeth after lunchtime.

“ Although I lost contact with Jean several years ago I am so sorry for her passing. Her children Garth, Heather and Holly were without a doubt the most important things on this earth to her. I got to know them and can say I grew very fond of them. She is in a better place now . Jean was a classy and fun woman. She will be missed greatly. Christian morse

“ Heather, Holly and Garth,

Charlene and I are so sorry to hear of Jean's passing. She was a loyal teammate and loved by the children who had her. She worked hard and loved her job. Her smile and laugh always made me smile. Her stories were what made us laugh, and what a laugh it was. She always had kind words for the kids she taught and the people she worked with.

She was a classy lady and a strong woman.

“ Although we are not truly acquainted, as a distant cousin, please allow me to extend condolences to your family. The loss of a loved one takes such a toll on the family and this is especially true of mothers, as they are the hub of the wheel.

“ Jean and I were teammates at HMS. We had so many early morning conversations as we got ready for the day....and as she curled her hair with the curling iron she brought from home as she's rushed out the door...lol. I will miss your humor, laugh and compassion you had for kids who needed extra love and care. You were a terrific friend and colleague. I will never forget you xoxo Kate Couture

“ I didn't know Jean long, but the time I was able to spend with her was wonderful. She is an embracing spirit, and you want to get to know her more just by being around her. She and I share our disease, Crohns' and she gave me much confidence and hope around my own trials and tribulations of the illness. She will be missed.
