“ I miss my uncle Jeff tremendously. I always felt he was the only one of my relatives that reminded me in ways of myself. I wish we had more time with him.

“ The world lost a Great soul, in Jeff Skinner's passing. He was my neighbor when he lived in Newburyport. We have remained friends since his move to NH. Jeff was an Honorable person; and a Loyal & Very Caring friend. He was a Special person; who made the most out of hard times. With his medical issues, he didn't complain. He smiled, made other people happy; and got the most out of each day! He was a Great joke teller. Always had me laughing, at his silly jokes. 😊. Even if he used the same material a few times over. Lol. He got excited about many things: Decorating for Christmas/Decorating for Halloween/Planting in his yard; and of course The Patriots & our other Boston teams!! It didn't take much to make him happy. I gave him a giant stuffed snowman; ("frosty" to him). Someone had given it to me - I didn't have room for it. Every year we talk about when Frosty will make the trip from his shed, into the house for the holidays. A few days ago, he said "Make sure you come up & see me & Frosty before Christmas!" His family plans to do something special with good old Frosty. I will miss Jeff. He brightened up this world. He had a Big Heart, a Love for Life, and a gentle kindness about him. So sad to say: "Good Bye my friend. I was so fortunate to know you. Heaven has gained a Remarkable man. Rest, with all of the Peace & Happiness that You Deserve.

“ Another very sad day and a big loss. Jeff became family during a past illness when he was befriended by our late son Troy Codd. Later trough all of Troys rough days Jeff was there for him to return his friendship. He was a very special person .

“ In celebration of Jeff's life, I am brought back to my childhood at Proctor Elementary School in Topsfield and Masconomet HS in Boxford. It was there that Jeffrey, Mark Connally and I forged our friendship and did everything that Topsfield kids enjoyed from riding our bikes around town, to swimming in the Ipswich River and working at the fair. When the Beatles hit the scene we were inspired and it seemed from that point forward, that our lives revolved around music. Like most kids, we were caught up in 60s pop culture. Thanks to my mom I got my first "Silvertone" electric guitar. We formed a band called "Whats Left" and my dad helped us with a sound system. We covered songs from the british invasion and eventually connected with hard driving drummer Gil Van Geyte whose family owned Sunny Lane Cleaners. Gil knew singer/songwriter Ed Goodoak from Danvers, who knew bass player Al Gagnon and the Royal Aircoach was born, rehearsing in Gil's basement two or three times a week. Somehow we found organist Mike Saulnier from Ipswich and Rick Noon from Topsfield on rhythm guitar. Al's father (Chauncey) helped us get some new amps and guitars and managed the band. We began to write original song and went into Wayside Sound Studios with Teddy Dewart (from Teddy and the Pandas) producing. Al came up with the signature lick for Wondering Why I contributed the bridge and backing vocals and Ed the lyrics. Jeff's lead vocals were awesome to say the least. Jeff and I collaborated and composed the ballad, "Webs of Love", the "B" side of our single and a timeless pop ballad. Nothing can describe the excitement when the band heard our songs played on AM radio. We played all over New England and often at the "Kings Rook" in Ipswich. Our shows at the fairgrounds and at Lockwoods barn parties were legendary... it seemed that everyone from Masco was in attendance, with Jeff at the front of the stage captivating the crowd, and Frank Iovanella's blazing light show. Eventually Rick was drafted and sent to Vietnam and Mark came in on rhythm guitar, but switched to keyboards when Mike Saulnier left the band. Alas those days were fleeting, but we held the magic and lived the dream... if only for a moment... none of it would have been possible without the presence and contributions of Jeffrey Skinner. Rest in Peace my friend and know that you are loved and appreciated.

“Jeff & I grew up together in Topsfield. They say you always remember where you were when you first learned JFK was assassinated. I'll never forget Jeff running up to me from across the street (as we were all walking home from Proctor Elementary) screaming, "They shot President Kennedy!" Then he walked me home. Both of us stunned. Now I'm stunned to learn of his unexpected passing. We were so hoping to get as many of our classmates together for our 50th Masco high school reunion. It's a few years off as we graduated in 1970. But this teaches us how to make the most of every day we are given. Rest In Peace old friend.

My condolences go out to all of his dear ones. Family & friends alike.
