“ I didn't get to spend much time with Jack, but I do remember how much he'd make me and those around him laugh. One morning I went to breakfast with Jack, his son John, his daughter, grand daughter, and a few others. He started piling copious amounts of pepper onto his eggs, so much so that his daughter took the pepper away and said "Okay, that's enough." A few minutes later she asked how his meal was and he replied, "not enough pepper." I'll always remember Jack that way. My deepest condolences to his family. May he Rest In Peace.
