“ My heart breaks for your family. I can not even begin to imagine the pain you are all feeling. I pray for strength for your family. Had I known, I would have taken so many more pictures of Katlyn on the cruise. She kept hiding from me, because I had my camera ready. Katlyn is your angel looking after you all now. God Bless you all.

“ It was very nice to be present at today's celebration of life for Katlyn. The beautiful words, music, and pictures perfectly captured the spirit of the vivacious student I had the pleasure of teaching at St. Thomas Aquinas. I hope that the prayers and support of Katlyn's countless friends may bring you some consolation in your grief.

I am so incredibly sorry for the loss of your sister. My heart goes out to you, Andrew, and your mom and dad. I only met Katlyn a couple of times, but she was a very vibrant individual and made a big impression. Please let me know if there is anything that I can do. We can't understand God's plan, but we can take solace in knowing that our loved ones are shining down upon us. ~Becca

“ I met Katlyn recently, through a friend. I knew right away I liked her vibe but probably more because we shared more than surfing in comon. We both know jesus. She texted me last week, my friend had given my number to her. I hit her up on wed I felt like i needed to take her to breakfast. I just texted her and told her there was waves. But i didnt hear back from her. Friday I literally spent the morning telling someone a few srotries about how god had really been there for me in my life. Like you know really been there for me in ways that i could really not describe over a written language. I left talking to steve told him i was going surfing. I knew id be the only one out at that time. So i drove down. I didnt feel good. Something was wrong. So i started drivng down the coast to drive home. And I saw this epic beam of light shinging to the south throught the clouds. I instantly thought of my friend.. the one that gave my number to Katlyn. I knew god was trying to tell me something.

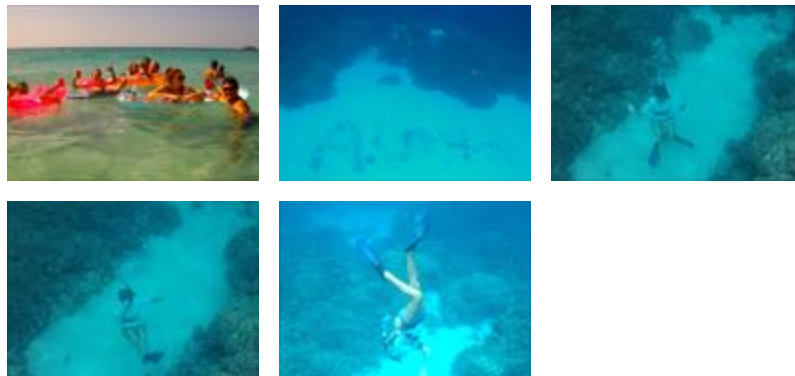

I have to say I am truly sorry for her friends and familys loss. I wish I had been really paying attention to god.

“ Katlyn, You were my best friend, my soul mate, my absolute world. I can't imagine a day without you, but I know I won't have to because you will always be with me. God put us in each others lives for the best of reasons, you taught me so much, you made me laugh until I cried, you made me smile until my cheeks literally hurt.. and then smile some more. You made it so easy for a person to be unapologetically themselves.. I plan on making every reason you were put into my life in such an incredible way count. I know you are in a place far more beautiful, and I can't wait until i see the beautiful beaming face again. You touched everyone you met, it was impossible not to love you, everything about you is contagious in the best way. " no matter what happens in life always be kind to people, because being kind is a wonderful legacy to leave behind " ... that is exactly the legacy you leave behind, and so much more. You will always be my beautiful angel and I couldn't ask for a better one. I love you now and forever !! XO - jess “Katlyn was in the first Advanced Placement Environmental Science class I ever taught (I was a first year teacher at St Thomas High School). Two big things about Katlyn, memories I have always cherished, were, first, her sarcastic but gentle sense of humor--she was always calling me on things. As a new teacher there was a lot for her to make fun of....and she always did it in such a lovable way. Second, she gave me the first gift I ever got from a student, it was a key chain, a dead beetle encased in glow-in-the-dark plastic that one of her coaches had given to everyone on the team. To paraphrase what Katlyn said when she gave it to me--"my coach gave us these key chains, I think they're gross but I knew you would love it" Which I did...I still use it.

I am so happy to have known Katlyn and to have had her life touch mine in such a positive way.

All my prayers and love are with the entire Alix family at this sad time.

Katlyn will forever remain in your hearts and minds. She is the warm ocean breeze, the colors of the rainbow, the giggles of a little child, she is the brilliant twinkle of the stars at night, and the warming rays of the sun. My heart and prayers go out to all of you, and I know there are no words that can truly comfort you. Just know that you are surrounded far and wide by loving thoughts.
