“ I can't believe it, and my heart is so broken right now. When I read it I said Lord please not our Kim. You were always so much fun to work with, and we had a lot of wonderful times at Shaw's. I remember just like it was yesterday when we ran into each other at the little Market Basket, and we hugged each other so hard. I thank God I will always have that wonderful memory, and I can still feel that hug. I love you my friend, and I will miss you, but before long we will all be together again forever, and ever. My prayers are with the family... There are some very happy people in Heaven right now because Kim is finally home. See you soon Darlin
