“ Lindsay...Your smile would light up a room and your laugh would make everyone laugh. The trips to Sanibel and the late night cruise to check out tattoo places. The beach weekends at North Beach. Being crammed into an SUV so we would all be in the same car... my stomach hurt for days after that from laughing. The look on your face when I came to pick you up to go to a Halloween party and you couldn't believe it was me.... You will be in my heart forever... Love ya Carrie

“ Well Linds, here I am trying to do this without tears, and thinking no more beach days on North Street, no cramming into SUVs to get where we're going not to have to take 2 cars. Remembering Sanibel Island and taking a night time trip into Ft Myers Beach for that Butterfly. These memories will never fade away, you will be in my thoughts and heart forever. Your smile, kindness and loyalty will be remembered forever. One wish though, when all of our time comes, you'll be there to open the gate. Love ya!

“ My beautiful sweet niece Lindsay, there are no words , I am heartbroken.

As a young child, we developed a special bond that only an Aunt and niece share. Weather it was dressing up in your beautiful polly flinders dresses twirling throughout the house or sneaking away from a holiday gathering to take a bubble bath and curl your beautiful “yellow” hair or countless hours playing in the sand at Nana and Papa’s beach house.

As a teenager and young adult we managed to keep or relationship close always finding time to talk or spend time together. Your kind and loving heart lead to many friendships throughout your life. All of those who knew you benefited from your generous, caring, loyal and kind ways. Your smile would light up the room and your infectious laugh along with your unique voice made everyone feel good. You were the LIFE of the party !!!

I will miss our long walks and talks on the beach, our fierce boogie board competitions to see who could catch the best wave and longest ride and most of all just spending time together.

Although your time here was way to short , you touched so many with your loving, kind ways.

I will always love you Linds , you will forever be in my heart.

Until we meet again over the rainbow, rest in peace.

Love always AUNTA

“ I have so many wonderful warm memories of Lindsay...I had the honor of dating her throughout college and am really thankful to have known this beautiful person at such a fun time in both of our lives. We had no real responsibilities but to have fun and love each other..and we did. Lindsay taught me so many things about life, love, and determination. She taught me how to have as much fun as humanly possible in life, and at the same time stay on track and persue a goal. Something that I have never forgotten. Linds did have one of the most contagious smiles and inviting voices you ever heard. She was always the life of the party and everyone, no matter how random, would feel safe to open up to her and tell her their problems for hopes that some of her magic would rub of on them. She was full of magic.

Lindsay you will always be in my heart. You will be missed by so many.

My condolences to everybody in Lindsay's family. My heart goes out to you.

“ What can I say Linds...I love you dearly and I will always remember our adult years together as best friends and roommates. We were thick as thieves for all those years...You were by my side for so many “firsts.” From freshman year at URI to peacing out on NE and heading South to finish college in the sun. To my wedding day and baby shower and the birth of my babies. I wish I was there for more of yours.

You taught me so much. You taught me how to work hard and hustle. You taught me how to cook. You taught me how to clean and how to keep a nice house. You taught me how to love so hard and so deeply and most importantly you taught me how to be a friend. You were so warm, generous and giving. And you were 1000 times smarter than me which always pissed me off ha! You constantly impressed me. I cannot believe how often and how hard we laughed. You taught me how to laugh at life and to ignore all the bullshit. “Life is short man.”

I hate that we lost touch over the past 10 years. I hate how things turned out for you. I hate how you're gone.

I will always love you friend and we are forever in each other's hearts. May you finally Rest In Peace beautiful. Until we meet again.
Love, Ab

“ Lindsay was a very close friend in high school, but we lost touch with each other the last 15 or so years. She really did brighten up every room she entered. She was, on the exterior, always the life of the party. On the inside though, she was fiercely loyal, a great listener, a huge heart, and gentle soul. She meant a lot to me in my most formative years and I'll never forget the gift that she was to my life. Some people live 90 years without that effect on someone and I know I am not alone in the effect she had on me.

My heart goes out to her family.
