

Margaret A. Tidd

November 21, 1940 - April 28, 2015

Rye, NH – Margaret A. "Peggy" Tidd, 74, of Rye, formerly of Georgetown, Mass., died Tuesday, April 28, 2015 at Sanctuary Care Assisted Living in Rye after an extended illness.

She was born November 21, 1940 in Haverhill, Mass., a daughter of the late Edmund and Marjorie (MacLeod) Staples.

Margaret was raised in Merrimac, Mass., and graduated from Merrimac High with the Class of 1958. She married shortly after high school and settled in Georgetown to raise her family, and worked as the office manager at Georgetown Light for many years until her retirement in 2002.

She is survived by her sons, Richard E. Tidd and his wife Jovy of Georgetown and Peter Tidd and his wife Doris of Exeter, and her grandchildren, Anthony, Alexander and Aidan. She also leaves her nephew, Erik Tremblay, whom she raised as her own, his wife Leigh and their children, Cameron and Zachary, all of South Carolina.

In addition to her parents, she was predeceased by her sister, Janet Tremblay.

All services were private.

“ Peggy was a dear cherished friend who I was able to spend many wonderful times with. I enjoyed my walks with her and all the other fun times we had together. Peggy was a pleasure to be around -- I will miss her always. I believe that Peggy saw the Face of God on April 28 and He welcomed her to His everlasting home.
