“ *I met Mickey and the O’Keefe family in late 1960’s when our family rented a cottage in Seabrook for several summers. I hung around with him and Johnny Thompson whose family from Somerville also owned a home at the beach. I had not seen Mickey in years and just ran into him in August at OKeefe’s store. Glad I able to reconnect with home this past summer. Rest in Heavenly Peace my friend “ Not many of us kids on the beach in the late '50s, early '60s. So when "Mickey" and his family moved in the Cullen boys had a great new friend.

Not many houses around, just sand dunes. Whether pitching pennies in the basement on rainy days, rolling down the dunes in tubes or terrorizing his dad or Mr. DiBurro at their stores, there was never a dull moment with Michael around ! The 1960s was a magical time to grow up on the sand dunes of Seabrook Beach. RIP Michael. You were a wonderful son, brother and old friend.
