“ As a child, driving from Dorchester to the Village in Everett every week for Sunday dinners with the Rizzo family. Michael, the youngest grandchild in short pants with his sister Carole. The day ended with the adults playing poker in the basement while the children slept after a long day of sharing play. Michael - Everett's own Bobby Darin. Lorraine's own Fred Astaire as they entertained to the delight of the crowd at their wedding. Many, many late night desserts from Piantadosi (?Sp) Bakery and coffee in his mother's kitchen in Everett as we reminisced about the old days. Many lunches and dinners as we exchanged long distance visits during our mid-life years. Posing together for a picture in front of a Portsmouth storefront containing a Mermaid. Tumbling together as we got twisted in a hammock on Cape Cod Bay. Sailing in his sailboat - Michael, ever-cautious and, thankfully safety minded. Lunch at the Wentworth Inn (? name) in Maine where Michael almost drove over my foot as he moved the SUV in the parking lot. Michael - ever sincere Ever gentle. Ever loving of his family. We will miss you.
