Pam was a passionate realtor for 20 years with a love of development and sales of real property. She enjoyed the seacoast and all it had to offer. “ More than once Pam had been to my home and met my previous White German Shepherd. Though she never met the one I have now , up close and personal, she did see us one May morning as she was taking her ritual walk along the beach wall. I was on my motorcycle and my dog, Colm, was in his trailer that I tow. His head was up through the hatch, he had his goggles on and he was smiling ear to ear... when Pam looked over and saw him she started laughing.

I didn't realize it was her until I had gone by but I did message her later and told her that it was me and my new Service Dog. We chatted for a bit and I told her that I was glad that see him brought a smile to her face.

It wasn't often that our schedules allowed us to meet up for a cocktail or get together but we always shared some laughs. I will always remember that!

“ Pam and I shared office space in our Hampton real estate office for a while, but she was rarely there since she was out working so hard! To quote another, she did have "a quirky sense of humor", and that was often her attitude also, which is why she was so unique and special as a "roomie"! I still don't know why she died, but I pray for peace for her family and those dear to her.... Rest in peace, dear Pam

“ Pam was first a colleague, then a friend, and finally, a real estate agent for me. Her love of animals, and her passion and dedication to her work were things I truly admired about her. Pam got things done. I'll miss seeing her face on my fridge- her game schedules always made me a smile- she was a marketing guru! She worked harder and smarter. <3

“ I'll never forget Pam working with me at Coldwell Banker in Portsmouth. She was a very hard worker. At the end of her first or second year back in 2004 she commented that she had never worked so hard to earn 80k! She learned the business and only went up from there. I will miss her. So sad and so sudden. RIP Pam. Your friend, Susan

“ Pam and I started in real estate around the same time.....back when CBRB was on Bow Street. When my business partner and I landed the Button Factory project, Pam signed up to do open houses there every weekend. Her tenacity paid off as she got four buyer sides of the 10 units. An example of just how determined she was: one day I got a phone call from a resident that one of my agents was climbing through a window to get into the building. Of course that was Pam trying to show a unit she didn't have a key for. We laughed about that all these years and the fact that we often got each other's phone calls having worked in the same office twice in our careers. Pam was the first one in the office every day and I admired her work ethic. She always maintained her quirky sense of humor and she always took the time to chat. I am so sad for her family who she adored and for the many, many people whose lives she touched. Such a loss for our community. RIP Pam.

I met Pam in 2008 when she sold me my first condo "on the beach"! She proceeded to sell me a total of 6 in our years together since then. She was the consummate professional while at the same time being a true "friend"! She was special. RIP, my friend! You will be sorely missed!

Condolences to Pam's family and friends. Pam was a special friend....independent yet always there. We worked together for years and hung out together too. We had each other's backs. I only wish I could have helped more with much of the recent turmoil she got caught up in. Pam was special and one of the hardest working agents I know. I miss you a lot Pam. Peace to you now dear friend. You have earned it. RIP.
