“ When Ryan and I flew into Boston and spent dinner and an evening with You and Uncle Robie, I still remember how wonderful that last memory was with you guys. We felt so loved on. And he told me later how much fun he had, just a paramedic and cop, sitting down ragging on firefighters for an evening. My wish would be that maybe they're both sharing beers somewhere doing the exact same thing again. And that you're coated in love and support of others while you grieve. Love you.

“ Dear Dale, Words can not even began to express the sadness we all feel today. I was so privileged to have known your Robie even though it was a short time. He was such a good man and when we got together for our luncheons he always listened to my story and gave a great opinion. I know your heart is broken. Just remember you have all of us that love you..

“ Often when I would go over and hang out with Lauri she would tell me that we had to be quiet because Robie was sleeping after a night on the job. I grew up in a house where my mom had the philosophy of don't worry about noise because people should learn to sleep through anything. So we never kept things quiet when we were at home. But I'm glad I practiced it at the Beckman house because I would certainly need it at my own later on with a husband who can't sleep well with any noise. Thanks, Robie! I have fond memories with the Beckman family on Pages Lane. Dale and Robie kept a beautiful house and property and an always friendly home. My heart goes out to you Lauri, Dale and Lisa and you are all in my prayers. May the Lord lavish you with His peace and comfort at this difficult time. Hugs and Love all around, Roxanne Swain Evans
