“ Still to this day I miss Sean. I wish I could see him and speak with him again. I have many great memories of Sean with the short amount of time that we knew each other. I wish I could go back to those times. He was one of the funniest people I known and also sincere. I miss you Sean. Until the next time we meet...

“ For a guy that never had it easy, for a variety of reasons, you always had a positive attitude. Always with plans for the future, such as possibly buying a place in upstate Maine, near the water, of course. Sad that never came to fruition, you would have loved it. Will always remember the fun times and conversations we had over the years. Never met a guy who, no matter how obscure the subject was, would have an intelligent opinion or story about it. Had a memory like an elephant to boot, which helped in that regard. While I can't remember what I had for breakfast, you would remember someone's name that you met once, 20 years ago. Amazing man and good friend that I will miss going forward. Rob C.
