Rye - Valerie was born in New York City and grew up in Manhattan, attending Cathedral High School. She graduated with a degree in Medical Technology in 1955 from the University of Maine, where she met her husband. Cornelius (Neil) Murphy and Valerie were married shortly after her graduation and relocated to Rochester, NY where he began his lengthy career at Kodak. They settled in Webster and enjoyed 52 years of marriage and raised 6 children - 5 sons and 1 daughter. Valerie was predeceased by her husband, one brother and her granddaughter Megan Finnegan.

Raising her family was a job Valerie cherished, and she particularly enjoyed spending summers at the family cottage in Canada. She was active with Holy Trinity Catholic Church and sang in the choir for many years. Once the children were grown, she and Neil traveled throughout the world, often with close friends. She particularly enjoyed watching her grandchildren grow up. She was extremely proud of her family.

Valerie leaves behind Michael (Barbara), Tom (Joanne), Ed (Anna Marie), Jerry (Sharyl), Don, Maureen (Matt) and 14 grandchildren. She also leaves behind a sister-in-law, Alice Molinari, many nieces and nephews and dear friends.
