“ Too often these days I Google the name of an old friend and discover that he or she has died. The last time that I saw Vlad was when he stopped in Albuquerque, New Mexico as he and Lynn were moving from San Francisco to New Hampshire. Vlad and I were friends from Wallingford, Connecticut. While we never saw each other again but spoke again years later for over an hour. As with a few other old friends, our conversation flowed as if we had always stayed in touch. Some friendships survive regardless of the length of time between too rare encounters. My connection to Vlad will remain until my own passing occurs. Vlad, thanks for our time together and all the memories and laughs.

“ I was so very sorry to hear of Vlad's passing! The last time I talked to him was to advise him of his good friend, Thom Theis (my husband) and his passing, June, 2020... .I had no idea it was the last time we would talk. He was one of my favorite people always lifting Thom's spirits and making us laugh. He was good hearted and a joy to be around. I join you in your mourning... He was so loved!! Am sure he and Thom are sharing jokes in Heaven!

“ The Wilhousky Family -

We are so sorry to hear of Vlad's passing. I met Vlad through the McQuarrie & Landers clans and we played in golf tournaments together annually for what has to be over 15 years. Something I looked forward to each and every year, with the highlight being a chance to connect with Vlad. He was such a warm, engaging, and fun person to be around. Beyond the normal golf banter, we regularly talked of our families and he spoke with great pride and love for his children.

The last couple of years my son joined in our foursomes and I really appreciate that Matt got the chance to meet Vlad and see his good nature in action. Hard to express how genuinely supportive he was of everyone around him.

We will miss him greatly and send our heartfelt condolences to Lauren, Peter and the rest of his family.

“ Peter and Lauren,

We are all so deeply saddened and sorry about your Dad's passing. I considered him a special friend and I will miss his friendship, humor, and counsel. He was a special man!

I met Vlad way back in 2003 when Peter joined the New England Rebels. We hit it off right away and had many chats in the cages and between weekend double headers with Peter always on the mound for one of the games. He loved the game and most of all, spending time watching you play Peter. Baseball was a regular topic of conversation even though he was a devout Yankees and myself a Red Sox fan and we would always reminisce about the Rebels.

Our friendship led to him becoming our financial advisor where his advice and expertise was very special and so appreciated.

I will always remember teaming up annually for various golf tournaments - Vlad was our "ringer" and carried us plenty of times. Not only was he really good but he left me with many funny golf quotes that I carry with me and use often such as; "stay away from that boranga", "that backswing was a rumor", "run ball like you're late for supper".....

Rest in peace Vlad – we will miss you,

The McQuarrie's – Al, Randi, Allan, Jon, and Justin.

“ Dear Peter, Lauren and Wilhousky Family

So sad to hear of your father's recent death, and belatedly of your mother's passing last year.

I knew your Dad as a loving , proud and responsible father during the sports medicine treatment of young Peter's pitching shoulder. Vlad handled our finances for years, and we played quite a bit of golf together. He was honest, talented and optimistic in his work and golf game. He had a beautiful swing not ever tarnished by lack of play due to work and family concerns. The picture you choose captures his intellect and sense of humor. .

My deepest condolences

“Vlad and I had been friends for 45 years having met in training at Dean Witter in San Francisco. We became fast friends instantly. We shared humor and similar interests in history. We always had a book or movie to recommend to each other. We spoke almost every day during our working life about everything under the sun. When I retired we still kept up that level of communication. There is a hole in my life now which will never be filled. RIP my pal. I will miss you every day till we meet again. My heart goes out to the family. He was the best.

“I’m so saddened to hear of Vlad’s passing. Over the last decade, I really got to know Vlad after my own father’s passing. Not only was Vlad incredibly smart and an amazing financial advisor, but he was also down to earth, generous and kind. Any financial question I had, Vlad always responded promptly and with patience. Whether chatting about finances or my dad’s memorial golf tournament that he looked forward to every year, I always enjoyed our phone conversations. He was always upbeat, often shared a nice memory of my dad, and, without fail, he would always proudly bring up his children and their accomplishments. He even heard my daughter in the background one day and he lovingly brought up his granddaughter and the joy he had in spending time with her. You could tell, Vlad’s family was his pride and joy. I hope Vlad knew how appreciative I was to have his guidance over the years... I will certainly miss him.
