“ Bill and I were roomies for a couple years at Patriots Park. I was working 2nd shift at Seabrook. After work I'd go to the station and hang out with Bill all night. Bill sucking on a Tab playing the best rock in the world. Bill hated the play list and play what he. I was adopted into the HEB family, becoming the voice of his engineer Mario De Cemento. We would share some herbs and call the McDonald's in Reykjavik iceland to see how many employees spoke English (all of them did). Bill loved sports and we played on the WHEB All-Stars. Thanks to Bill I met and married the great love of my life and he was one of my groomsmen at wedding. We spent many nights at the Scoreboard

“ Back in 1981, I moved to California, and I was always a big fan of late night WHEB... Tom B. & Bill M. - I even made a few tapes of their shows, especially Bill's laid-back style with his quiet friend "Mario". Those tapes were a comfort to listen to out in fast-paced California, and those tapes sat in a sealed box in the basement for many years.

Just this morning, I went down and grabbed the box and listened to one of the tapes and the banter between Tom Bergeron, Jack Messner & Bill --- it just made me smile! Then just being curious, I wondered where Bill was these days and googled his name and I am completely in shock that he just passed.

I never knew Bill personally, even though I did call in with answers on his trivia questions from time to time and we would chat briefly on the phone back in those old days. But gosh, was he entertaining and had a down-home comfort as friends do. Rest in peace my old radio friend.

“ I'm very sorry to hear of Bill's passing. I worked with Bill at NPC when we were both supervisors. He was the salt of the Earth. Honest, objective, and always willing to fight for what was right. He had integrity and character. He would say he was a character and he was. He was often passionate in exchanges but he was equally open to new ideas and had no problem admitting mistakes. I don't know why Bill cared so much about others and doing his best to give voice to their concerns, when most people remained quiet. I guess he wasn't afraid of a good honest exchange of ideas and most of us tend to be too cautious. I think that is something to be said and one of the things I will always remember and respect about him.

“ I was out of town when I heard of Bill's passing. Worked with him from the good 'ol days here at NPC. He and I both agreed they were before 2006. I would see him in the halls and say "Billy Bob, what's happenin?" and he would say, "you are Linda, you are." or "How are you?" and he would state his signature answer, "living the dream". I loved sitting next to him in meetings to hear his quiet comments that would make me snicker. He seemed to hate injustice, because he would always speak up. I liked that about him and respected him for it because I am like that as well, howbeit, it is never appreciated. I remember one night at home my younger son and I were working on a project, listening to the radio and I told him that's Bill! My son was very impressed that I personally knew a "celebrity". Bill you will always be a celebrity in my eyes. You were one of a kind. Take care Billy Bob, see you on the other side.

“ On behalf of my wife Frances E. Flanders-Lange, I would like to send my deepest sympathies to Bill's family, friends, and especially his collaeagues at NPO.

My wife Fran worked with Bill at NPO. In fact, my wife Fran was part of the crew that opened that office in Portsmouth in 1992. That office is now the National Visa Center where I currently work. Fran and I were neighbors of Bill in Portsmouth for many years. He was always a very charming, funny guy and very knowledgable about a lot of things, especially music. He always had a smile on his face. He will be deeply missed.

“ My name is Deborah Fenton though Bill knew me as Deb Roberts. He was the only one that ever called me Deb 40+ years ago. I knew him when he was stationed at DMAFB in Tucson, Az because he was my boyfriend's (Harold (Robby) Robinson)best friend. A bunch of us spent a lot of time together as Bill was dating my best friend also. We spent a lot of time in the mountains which Bill loved, he wasn't crazy about the desert, he missed home. He also spent a lot of time at my parents home and they both loved him too. I will never forget how much he wanted to see a roadrunner and how disappointed he was when I pointed one out and he realized they weren't 3-4 feet tall like in the Wiley Coyote cartoons. (and they didn't really go Beep Beep). He was funny, kind and super smart and an integral part of my youth. I am so deeply saddened by his passing, though I haven't seen him since he left Arizona. He was bigger than life and it was a privilege to know him, even for that short time. God bless your family and may he comfort you all as you find your way through this difficult time. He is an unforgettable soul. Sincerely, Deborah. Peace.

“ My name is Joan (Adamaitis) Agerholm. I have just learned of Bill's passing from my old friend and colleague Jack Messmer, and it was a shock. Both Jack and I were news reporters and anchors at WHEB in Portsmouth in the 1980s when Bill was a disc jockey there. Believe me when I tell you that it was a privilege to work with Bill, one of the most talented, funny, unassuming, and kind people I have ever known. He was truly gifted in the art of radio. To this day, I can remember listening to a skit he created of a slide show (on the radio, mind you!) with wickedly funny commentary about prominent athletes. It was brilliant! Although decades of time and many miles have separated us, Bill has remained for me one of the greats in broadcasting. My heartfelt sympathies go out to all the McDermods on your loss.

“ I count myself blessed to have worked with Bill during The Good Ole Days. He played the part of curmudgeon well, but under that hard-nosed exterior was a warm vibrant human who deeply cared for people.

But his wit--no one's was sharper. I'll never forget when we discussed ages (his Vs. mine), and he exclaimed, "Good God woman, I have socks older than you!"

My deepest sympathies for his family. Thank you for sharing Bill with us for awhile, and be assured he is no longer in pain. Be well.

“ Bill's passing is a devastating loss for us here at the NPC. I met him when I came aboard in 2004...lovingly referring to him as "Mr. Crab". Tough exterior but deep down a teddy bear. He was one of the "old timers", been here since the beginning and I learned so much from him. Just an all around awesome guy! While the last few days have been incredibly sad we are doing our best to remember the good times with Mr. Bill....like the time he was sitting at his desk and a mouse ran up his pant leg....you could hear his scream (and expletives) throughout the building that night! There was also the time he handled a phone call with a difficult customer ending the call with "I don't care if you are Condoleeza Rice, you are not getting a passport!" I believe we could hear that convo throughout the building that night too! Especially, when people started clapping as he hung up the phone. He was passionate, he was witty, he spoke his mind, he cared, and he kept it real. Our management meetings will never be the same, NPC will never be the same. We have lost a legend. I will miss seeing him around the office in his hoodies and hearing him say that he was "livin' the dream". My thoughts and prayers are with Gayle and his family and friends. RIP Mr. Bill.

“ Bill was my first husband. After many, many years I just felt the need to look him up on Facebook, just to see how he was doing. I could not believe my timing...I am so very sorry for his family and friends. I remember his laughter and his passion for broadcasting..I remember him having to lose his accent while in broadcasting school which is a story I have shared many times over the years. I remember Bobby, Kathy, and Dennis, his siblings, as well as his parents William and Evelyn. Altho we have not seen each other since the early 70s I have such wonderful memories. “ I was fortunate enough to know Bill outside of work while we were on a candlepin bowling team together. Although we weren't the best team in the league we easily were the most competitive and Bill always brought his one of a kind attitude to the lanes. “ Bill and I one time had to shred books. I was talking to Bill about how my husband liked his sense of humor when listening to him on the radio. I also told Bill about the time my granddaughter and I were listening to the Shark and he was on the air. My granddaughter kept turning the channel to another radio station. I told her to stop it and I was going to tell Bill on her. My granddaughter said gammy you dont know him. I said yes I do and I am telling him what you are doing. I said to her I work with him. She then thought I was the coolest grammy because I worked with Bill. I did tell Bill about this and he laughed.

Bill rest in peace. My Prayer and thoughts are with the McDermod family.

Deborah Manning - May 05, 2015 at 02:51 PM

I can say it. I loved the man. He was real. Many of my best moments were spent "on the air" with Bill McDermod.

Our radio shows on WHEB often overlapped at midnight. He'd sometimes wander in early after stopping at The Scoreboard and contribute to my show. Often, I would remain after my air shift and record commercials in the Production studio, frequently joining the organized mayhem of Bill's broadcast. Judging by the calls, Bill touched the lives of many. When speaking, he could be sweet and sarcastic in the same sentence. He would sometimes take a contrary attitude just to rile another.

Although we often disagreed, I respected his well-thought-out views on life. His life was not an easy road; I think that humor served as an antidote to his anguish.

We laughed a lot, and that is the way I choose to remember Bill. My thoughts and prayers are with Bill's family and friends. We are richer for having known such a kind and honest man.

As one of the passport center's "old-timers", I've had the privilege and honor of Bill's friendship for the past 23 years. Bill was one of the first mentors and "cubbie-mates" I had @ NPC and he truly instilled a great sense of "adjudicative discretion" into my on-the-job thought processes over the years. Bill was also the star pitcher on our NPC softball team back in the early days...no one could take a shot back to the mound like Bill...and believe me, he spent a significant amount of time picking himself up off the ground, brushing the dirt off his infamous cut-off jean shorts, cursing under his breath, and focusing on the next batter. Perhaps the most common bond Bill and I shared was our unabashed, albeit unfortunate, love of '70 music...no matter how lame the tune! We would start every morning off testing each other with obscure one-hit wonders....and no matter how far deep in the catalogue I went, Bill knew the artist, song, year of release, and even the record label! He was the King of the Pop Rock World! His infectious sense of wit was never more apparent then during my early morning truck rides working for Coca-Cola back in the early 90s, DJ Bill would dedicate the Kansas tune "Dust In The Wind" to me every Saturday morning around 5:00 AM, knowing full well I'd be listening and that I really hated that song! For you Bill...thanks for the laughter and the memories...you were truly one of a kind!

All my dreams pass before my eyes, a curiosity"*

Our sincere condolences to Gayle and his family..

I was shocked and saddened to learn of Bill's passing. I had the privilege of working for Bill early in my time at NPC and thanks to him, I was able to be successful at my job. He took me under his wing and asked me to trust him. He didn't want to see me fail and was determined to make sure that I didn't. He succeeded! He helped me become a confident adjudicator and taught me how to "live the dream." He was one of the few supervisors that I have worked for over the years, that I truly admired and respected. He knew how to take care of his people. NPC and the rest us, have lost a one of a kind treasure. May he rest in peace.

Happy Birthday Bill,, I just found out about your passing yesterday! I couldn't believe it... You were one of my favorites at the old WHEB. FM radio was still entertaining and the Midnight hour was for all of us in the seacoast area to enjoy... I would often call in to answer trivia questions and chat... I would occasionally stop in to station and borrow some record albums to record. I occasionally subbed and played left and center field on the softball team.I even had Bill and his lady over for dinner ...but a secret, until now, was that I would call in as a mysterious caller about once a week and get Bill in stitches laughing so hard at my ramblings and schtick ...I never revealed who I was and Bill would say to me " I Dont know who you are but you are funnier than hell"... Well my good friend you know now... Take care in the new world, be at peace and know you are loved and missed... I am so grateful to have known you and saved many broadcasts.... Jim B
